*Lord, you will show me the path of life
and fill me with joy in your presence.*

Jesus reminds us today that all fatherhood—in the family or in the people of God—comes from the our Father in heaven. He doesn't mean we're to literally call no man "father." He himself referred to Israel's founding fathers; the Apostles taught about natural fatherhood and described themselves as spiritual fathers. The fatherhood of the Apostles and their successors, the Church's priests and bishops, is a spiritual paternity given to raise us as God's children. Our fathers give us new life in Baptism, and feed us the spiritual milk of the Gospel and the Eucharist. God's fatherhood likewise transcends all human notions of fatherhood and motherhood. We're all brothers and sisters, our Lord tells us today. And all of us—even our spiritual fathers—are to trust in Him, humbly, like children on our mothers' laps.

XXX DOMENICA TEMPO ORDINARIO

Come vivere oggi la Parola del Signore? "Tra il dire e il fare c'è di mezzo il mare" dice un proverbio popolare. In effetti uno può dire, cioè promettere, grandi cose e poi non realizzarle affatto perché costano impegno e sacrificio. Quanto a noi, genitori, educatori, preti o comunque persone con un compito nella società, siamo chiamati proprio a testimoniare questo: che il nostro "fare" deve essere la conferma automatica del nostro "dire". Diversamente si sgretola non solo la nostra autorevolezza, ma il nostro essere persona. Signore Gesù, questa tua parola rivolta agli scribi e ai farisei è forte e fa luce anche a noi, oggi. Loro legavano fardelli pesanti e difficili da portare: leggi e comandi oppressivi ma poi sicolavano, dentro il loro vivere nel compromesso. Per di più agivano per il falso splendore d'essere ammirati e applauditi dalla gente. Non sia così per noi, ti preghiamo. Rendici come l'elemento più semplice e più utile al mondo: l'acqua. Rendici integri e veri e perciò luminosi della tua luce perché assieme possiamo portare luce e vita.
