THIRTIETH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

October 26, 2025

Christ loved us and gave himself up for us as a fragrant offering to God.

Prayer must come from a sincere and humble heart if it is to be heard. Today's gospel warns all churchgoers about the danger of becoming spiritually smug and presenting ourselves as deserving of God's mercy because of our good works. We have not earned our salvation, for grace is the gift of Jesus from the cross. When we compare ourselves to the life of Jesus and the holiness of God, all that is left to say is: 'O Lord, be merciful to me, a sinner.'

XXX DOMENICA DEL TEMPO ORDINARIO

L'elenco che il fariseo fa, di fronte a Dio, è corretto: per zelo il fariseo paga la decima parte dei suoi introiti, non soltanto come tutti, dello stipendio, ma anche delle erbe da tisana e delle spezie da cucina! Qual è allora, il problema del fariseo? Semplice, dice Gesù, è talmente pieno della sua nuova e scintillante identità spirituale, talmente pieno di sé stesso che Dio non sa proprio dove mettersi. Forse anche noi siamo ricchi a tal punto che non riusciamo più a fare spazio al Signore nella nostra vita!

A GLASS OF HUMILITY

The word of the Lord that invited us last Sunday to persevere in prayer we must certainly pray, and pray insistently. But this is not enough; we must pray more and more. And the first adornment of prayer is the quality of humility: being convinced of one's own poverty. God, as the reading from Sirach reminds us, hears the prayer of the poor, especially the poor in spirit, like the tax collector in the parable. The prayer of the tax collector, which Jesus approves, does not start from his merits or his perfection, but from the saving justice of God, who, in his love, can compensate for the lack of personal merits: and it is this divine justice that allows the tax collector, without any merits to his credit, to return home "made righteous," "justified."
